Frequently asked questions

Question and Answer

Question

Are there any legal self defence products that I can buy?

Answer

The only fully legal self defence product at the moment is a rape alarm. These are not expensive and can be bought from most local police stations or supermarkets. There are other self defence products which claim to be legal (e.g. non toxic sprays), however, until a test case is brought before the court, we cannot confirm their legality or endorse them. If you purchase one you must be aware that if you are stopped by the police and have it in your possession there is always a possibility that you will be arrested and detained until the product, it's contents and legality can be verified. However, accepting there is a lot of concern about street crime, we can try to clarify matters a little by putting forward the following points.

- You must not get a product which is made or adapted to cause a person injury. Possession of such a product in public (and in private in specific circumstances) is against the law.
- There are products which squirt a relatively safe, brightly coloured dye (as opposed to a pepper spray). A properly designed product of this nature, used in the way it is intended, should not be able to cause an injury.
- However, be aware that even a seemingly safe product, deliberately aimed and sprayed in someone's eyes, would become an offensive weapon because it would

The one big thing I noticed is that anti-gun people seem to have an issue with this.

When you take away everything else about guns and gun ownership, who is left with guns? Bad guys and cops you say.... well maybe you should also stop attacking the cops.... See More

Jake Stroup It's amazing how these people place the blame on everything BUT the sole reason these shootings happen: the killers! James Holmes and Jared Loughner are still sitting in prison and will probably never see the death penalty. Bring back public hangings/firing squads and make examples of these beasts. Instead of whining about the instruments they used...

Question for our readers who are young-ish, say in your 40's and younger. A lot of us older pro-2nd Amendment types are getting kind of gray. We've got a ton of fight in us yet, and I guarantee we will fight until the last tooth falls out and everything else falls off! But, everything comes to an end sometime.

Can we count on you to keep the tradition strong? Will you continue to fight for the rights of the common man and woman after we're long in our wheelchairs--20, 30 year... See More
